I'm not talking about whether you're the Jonathan team or the Drew team: I'm talking about which houses you want you to enter as soon as possible. When it comes down to it, however, everyone's design preference is different, but being able to give owners what they want (while educating direction of everything they will deeply regret six months from now) is exactly what makes Drew and Jonathan Scott so good at their jobs. With a children's book-Builder Brothers: Big Plans (out now!) —On the way and Scott Living coming to Kohl next year, I wanted to turn the tables. As much as it may be like choosing between children —although many, many, many children- twins had to have some favorites over the years. The duo played gamely along, sharing with us their top 10 picks of all time. In no particular order, because reducing the list to 10 was hard enough, okay?! Ad – Continue reading below the property brothers take New Orleans: Season 1, Finale The color combo was certainly bold, but it works, especially in a place as lively as the Big Easy. The Brothers Property At Home - Drew's Honeymoon House: Season 1, Finale C'mon, this is Drew Scott and his wife Linda Phan's Los Angeles home! Of course it's one of your favorites! This modern front porch proves that tudors should not feel dark or dated. Home ownership brothers: Season 1, Episode 2 It's a good sign when your own home becomes one of your favorite projects. Drew and Jonathan only had six months to renovate the entire house before hosting the Scott family reunion, and kicked her out of the This infinity pool, hot tub and open-air theatre are just an infinity pool. Why ever come in?! Property Siblings: Season 9, Episode 13 Sarah and Kevin's house will give you serious fireplace envy. This room is the epitome of chic-yet-cozy. Brother vs Brother: Brother: 6, Episode 1 OK, okay - the brothers know how to shake a modern fireplace. And as epic as this, you need to take a second to admire Jonathan's use of real moss and plants to create displayed wall art. Property Brothers: Buying and Selling: Season 7, Episode 7 If you're not in white kitchens, this kitchen will be a refreshing change of pace for you. The massive dining kitchen helps make use of every inch of this space. In addition, the marble backsplash and the island, combined with the attached wooden table, give Kyla owners and Jon's modern kitchen some serious edge. Property Siblings: Season 13, Episode 3 Kids are the biggest inspiration to us, Drew said, so even though the two aren't parents, one of their favorite spaces is a place designed specifically for kids. This room should be the dream of all young children, and they own the reality of the child Jana & amp; Larry. Luuuucky! Property Siblings: Season 3, Episode 15 With new wardrobes, floors and appliances, this now open-concept kitchen feels much bigger and more practical. No wonder he's a standout for them. Brother vs. Brother: Season 5, Episode 1 I can see why Drew's nautical design made the list. Especially since these shelves above the fireplace are such a brilliant use of space. Property Brothers: Season 4, Episode 18 As part of their all-time favorite designs, Drew and Jonathan made owners Isabella and David's small kitchen feel gourmet. They even made room for Isabella's coveted breakfast bar.
